

UNSUCCESSFUL IS ATTEMPT TO BREAK VAULT AT GREENUP

Yeggs Are Unsuccessful In Their Attempt to Burglarize Greenup Bank Early Tuesday Morning.

Attorney A. D. Colo was advised this morning of an attempt early Tuesday morning to rob the Greenup Bank, of which his brother, Mr. W. T. Colo, is cashier.

The yeggs entered the law office of Mr. W. T. Colo, which is in the rear of the bank and with nitro-glycerine endeavored to blow through the re-inforced concrete wall of the bank's vault. Being unsuccessful in this, they entered the bank proper from the front of the building and endeavored to "crack" the large steel vault door with nitro-glycerine. The door was bent but did not break open.

Neighbors hearing the noise from the second explosion awakened and frightened the yeggs away. In leaving they left their tools on the floor of the bank in front of the vault. It is supposed they caught a passing freight train. The only loss to the bank was the bending of the vault door which will be promptly repaired.

The electric light plant in Greenup was out of order Tuesday morning and this gave the yeggs a better chance to operate unseen. The word has been passed out and an effort will be made to locate the yeggs by the Kentucky Bankers' Association.

The "St. Louis" is 200 feet long, all steel and lays close to the river. She is propelled by twin screws and travels at a very rapid speed throwing very large waves.

TRIMMED CORN; LOST A FOOT FROM THE INFECTION

Well Known L. & N. Railroad Conductor Suffers Blood Poisoning from Trimming Corn Too Close.

The many local friends of C. Pearl Fronk, of Winchester, formerly of this city, popular L. & N. railroad conductor, will be sorry to learn that he is now critically ill at St. Elizabeth's hospital, Cincinnati, from blood poisoning caused from a close trimming of a corn.

When trimming a corn a few days ago Mr. Fronk noticed that the corn had become infected and he was removed to the hospital where an amputation of the toe became necessary. Within a very short time the surgeons discovered that an amputation of the foot was necessary and Tuesday the entire foot was removed. Word from the patient today is to the effect that he is critically ill and it is feared that he will not recover from the infection which seems to have penetrated his entire body.

While conductor on the local division of the L. & N., Mr. Fronk married Miss Virginia Mason, of this county.

COUNTY TELEPHONE MAY EXTEND LINES TO NEW DISTRICT

Children of Murphysville and Sardis Districts Petition Mason Mutual Telephone Company For Use of Their Lines.

President Flarity, of the Mason County Mutual Telephone Company, announced Wednesday that the directors of the company had been petitioned by the people of the Murphysville and Sardis districts of the county to extend their lines into those districts and that the matter was now being considered by the directors.

Some time ago users of telephones on the Mayville line in these districts had their phones removed when the Mayville Telephone Company announced an increase in rental rates, many of the users of phones in those sections refusing to pay the increase demanded by the Mayville Telephone Company. Since that time the people of these sections have been very anxious that the Mason County Company make arrangements to care for them.

President Flarity this morning stated that the officers of the Mason County Mutual Company looked very favorably upon the proposition and that they would likely act on the matter officially and begin the extension of their lines within a few weeks.

MOST DISTINCTIVE OF MEMORIALS WILL BE "FEDERAL HILL"

Excelled Only by Mount Vernon Will Be the "Old Kentucky Home" When Purchased by The State.

The "Old Kentucky Home," after it has been purchased and restored, will give Kentucky one of the most distinctive memorials of its kind in the country. Mount Vernon alone will excel it in romantic and historic interest, but the 236 acre Bluegrass setting for Federal Hill will stand without equal. New York City has its Van Cortlandt manor house and its Jumel mansion, Ipswich, Mass., has its Whipple House; the Homewood of the Carrolls in Baltimore is now administration center for John Hopkins University, and in a few other states they have similar memorials. But Federal Hill, to those who know the others and who know it, will rank with any of them in architectural interest and, sentimentally, it will occupy a class all by itself and be more than a state institution.

All that needs to be done to assure the preservation of the fine old place and all its romantic associations is to support the campaign which is being conducted locally by the committee of which J. Barbour Russell is the head. Excellent work has been done by the committee and it is earnestly hoped that Mayville will do its full part toward bringing the project to a successful completion.

WILL DRILL FOR OIL IN FLEMING COUNTY.

The Fleming Gazette says: John T. Whitlock, a Chicago man, is coming to Fleming county with a complete well drilling outfit and will put down wells probably about Ryan in an effort to locate oil. There is also another prospect for a well outfit coming here, which would make in all three outfits in active operation prospecting for oil. So far the parties who have been at Colfax have been unable to get their drill loose, it having become fastened at a depth of about 600 feet. All the outfits are backed mostly by outside capital, though local parties are to some extent interested in one of them. It is to be hoped they will strike something.

GERMANY SURRENDERS TO ALLIED GOVERNMENTS' TERMS

Unconditional Acceptance of Allied Ultimatum Is Announced By The Reichstag.

Berlin, May 11. — Germany surrendered today.

With a cabinet chosen especially to accept the allied ultimatum, Chancellor Wirth sent to London, Paris and Rome today a note agreeing unconditionally to all reparations demands.

Events shaped themselves rapidly yesterday after Majority Socialists, Democrats and Centrist leaders decided the ultimatum must be accepted. Dr. Wirth, former minister of finance, succeeded in forming a coalition cabinet from the three parties.

Wirth immediately went before the Reichstag with a recommendation that the proposal be accepted, laying emphasis on the chance such action offered Germany to retain Upper Silesia and avoid occupation of the Ruhr Valley.

The Reichstag accepted the ultimatum by a vote of 221 to 175. The cabinet shortly afterward prepared the note of acceptance, agreeing to all terms and pledging to carry them out to the capacity of the nation.

FORGERY CHARGED AGAINST ADVANCE MAN OF CARNIVAL

Warrant Issued Here Charging Carnival Man With Forgery Check On Manager—Is Sought In Tennessee.

A warrant has been issued in City Court charging George Cummins, who was advance man for the Metropolitan Shows now exhibiting in Mayville, with forgery and the local police are making an effort to locate the man in a Tennessee city near the Kentucky line, where he is now supposed to be connected with another carnival company.

The forgery charged against Cummins is said to be that he issued a check when here a few days ago forging the name of the manager of the Metropolitan shows to it which he cashed here. The check was for fifty dollars and is said by the manager to be a rank forgery signed without his knowledge or consent.

Cummins left the employ of the Metropolitan shows when in Mayville and is supposed to have joined with another similar company which is now said to be operating in a Tennessee city. Chief Ort has wired the police authorities in that city asking them to arrest the young man and hold him for further orders.

OUR POLICY:

And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

THE GOLDEN AGE.

In their getting disturbed over the changing ideas in the world about them, people often fail to notice that in some respects the material world about them has changed since they were children.

To one who has not followed closely the various steps in which our education system has been changed within the last quarter of a century both in what is being taught and in the manner of teaching it is disconcerting to find that much has been changed which in his day he considered the essence of school training. After a casual survey of modern school methods and subjects of study, he is inclined to dismiss the matter by saying—"No, schools ain't what they used to be."

This tendency to paint the past as the golden era, to picture it as perfection made perfect, is active of course in all fields. Whether the critic has in mind the church, or politics, or the schools, he can and does with equal facility in all three fields paint the past in roseate colors, and generally has little to say that is commendatory of the present. He forgets that when he was a child, his elders in their own day on looking around them dimly said—"No, things ain't what they used to be." And their elders no doubt said it before them.

To pick out the present shortcomings of any institution like the church or the school, and to imply that these institutions had no shortcomings at all in an earlier generation is to show ignorance which may be excusable but is none the less ignorance. Even when we taught the three R's in the golden era of perfection, it is doubtful whether education was at that time one whit more efficient than it is today.

It is not condoning any defects of modern education to say this. The point is that things aren't what they used to be; but that they have changed for the worse would be hard to prove. The individual who laments the passing of the three R's—as a matter of fact, they haven't gone out—has failed to consider that he is doing and using many things today which were not thought of in the years to which he looks back.

A glance about him when he switches on the electric light in his apartment; or when he uses the telephone; or when by means of an automatic elevator he lets himself down to street level from the eighth floor, and drives his automobile downtown, proceeding complacently through traffic the very sight of which would have terrified his parents thirty or forty years ago—these things ought to convince him that other things besides the three R's aren't what they used to be. A little thought for the changed life which we lead as compared to the way in which an older generation lived, might make us a little more sympathetic toward institutions which are not finding it easy to keep up with these rapid changes.

FREIGHT RATES.

Last fall, when the interstate commerce commission yielded to the plea of the railroads for an increase of twenty per cent in freight rates, railroad executives held to the belief that their revenues would be increased to a considerable extent. The opposite has been the effect.

That the increase in freight rates has had something to do with existing industrial and business conditions is almost generally admitted. The railroads find themselves in the situation of the man who killed the goose that laid the golden eggs. They have the higher freight rates, but they do not have the business from which to collect them. Shipping costs have reached a point that makes them a real factor in the transaction of business.

The rate on lemons from California is almost equal to the price for which foreign-grown lemons are selling in New York City. It will easily be seen that lemons are not being shipped from California to the east and the railroads are getting no revenues from such shipments. The interstate commerce commission is considering a lowering of freight rates, with the object of giving some aid to industry and business by lowering the operating costs, and at the same time add to the incomes of the railroads by increasing the shipping business. Just what will be done remains to be seen, but that something will have to be done is evident.

FILM SHOWS EXTENSION WORK AMONG NEGROES.

How the negro farmer of the South is becoming a more prosperous and contented citizen through the influence of agricultural extension work is shown in a new motion picture produced and recently released by the United States Department of Agriculture. The picture was made in cooperation with the Alabama Polytechnic Institute and Tuskegee Institute.

The picture is in two reels, under the title "Helping Negroes to Become Better Farmers and Homemakers." The central character is Rube Collins, a typical negro farmer. He is brought in touch with agricultural extension work through his discovery that the boll weevil is ravaging his cotton fields. Through the county agent he learns how to raise cotton despite the boll weevil and how to diversify his crops so that his farming will bring a good return. Later on the film shows the appointment of negro extension workers, both men and women and their work among negroes. Another feature of the film is a "movable school" which carries instruction for farming and home work direct to the farms. The picture ends with a family scene at the Collins home and a phonograph fading into the strains of "Swanee River."

This picture will be circulated through the distribution system of the department and cooperating state institutions. Copies may be bought by authorized persons or institutions at the cost of manufacturing, which is about $30 for the two reels.

New York Letter

Now York. — The "Great White Way" is thirty years old. No wonder some people think it's beginning to settle down a bit. The term and the reality of its whiteness and brightness had its inception in a electric sign on the building that preceded the flatiron structure at Twenty-third street, Fifth avenue and Broadway. It startled the eyes of the natives as well as the out-of-towners with the flashing announcement that, "Manhattan Beach Is Swept by Ocean Breezes." Not long after this a soap manufacturer outbid the beach people for the space and the sign told the glories of soap. "Fifty-seven varieties" of pickles were the next product to be lauded in electricity and the signs came thick and fast after that. The "flasher" signs in this days were operated by a shift of electricians pulling switches from dusk until midnight. Now motors do the work.

There is considerable enthusiasm over the proposal to change the name of Herald Square to "Roosevelt Square." It would be interesting to have this triangle where Broadway cuts through Sixth avenue once more bear the name of a great American. For before it was Herald Square, it was Greeley Square, and it always seemed too bad to have changed that.

Mrs. Lillian S. Fisher of New York feels quite a distinguished citizen these days. She is the only Caucasian woman ever to have lived on the much disputed Island of Yap.

Somehow I never COULD think of a lock of hair as being a particularly pleasant thing to cherish if it belonged to some one you never even knew. But here it is, being sold at an art gallery — of all places in the world. The lock originally belonged to Dr. Samuel Johnson, and together with an autograph manuscript of a prayer written by him, two signed letters and a miniature on ivory, all mementoes of the great English man of letters, was put on sale the other day and brought $610. I DO believe, though, they would have got almost as much if they'd left out the lock of hair.

At last the talking movies are a reality. A few years ago when they first tried them out, they worked pretty badly, like all new things. But Wendell McMahon and Orlando E. Kellum seem to have perfected the mechanism at last, so that they absolutely synchronize — the words and the pictures. The people move about on the screen and do actually talk. There isn't a jarring whirl of the ordinary talking machine and there isn't a pause in between the motion of the lips and the sound supposed to come from them. The achievement is really quite wonderful. They will be introduced in pictures shown in New York's Town Hall this summer.

The days when profiteering could go unprotected have passed—even when the victim is merely one's husband. So at least, thinks Royal W. Smith. His wife hoisted the roof of his room from $4 to $5 a week and he just up and left her. He seemed to have a considerable part of the court-room sympathy, too, when she sued him for separation and he made his explanation.

Springtime is springtime with emphasis over at Ellis Island. The immigrants being detained there while waiting for admission to this country were for the most part peasants in the old country. They pruned grapevines in Italy, or tilled wheatfields in Russia, or tended the fruit trees in Greece. And spring to them has a call which they cannot refuse. So there on land without a tree or plant, they are finding rapturous delight in getting the soil ready for flowers and planting them, and before long Ellis Island will bloom like a garden. The Red Cross is furnishing the bulbs, and the immigrants look to succeeding immigrants to care for the flowers.

BABE CRAWLS UNDER MULE AND KICK CRUSHES HEAD.

Carlisle, Ky. — Lloyd Allen and wife, whose farm is near Tunnel Hill, left their year-old baby at the barn while they planted potatoes in a lot adjoining. Returning shortly afterward, Mrs. Allen found the infant dead its head having been crushed by the kick of a mule, under the heels of which it had crawled. No outcry was heard as death must have been instantaneous.

NAPOLEON WAS AN EXEMPLAR OF LAW AND ORDER

Great General, the Idol of France, Was Firmest of Believers in Real Law and Order.

Washington, D. C. — "On May 6th occurred the centenary of the death of Napoleon, the Idol of France," notes the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Hounie, Jr. "The occasion is one for the review of the life and accomplishments of the great man to see if we cannot draw from his career lessons for present day application. The world is prone to think of Napoleon solely as a military military man, paying little attention to his civil record as Emperor of France. It is true that he was one of the greatest generals who ever lived. As Marbot tells us, the soldier who understands Napoleon's strategy has nothing more to learn. But there is another side to the character of the French leader that is worthy of study in these abnormal times.

"To begin with, Napoleon was not a native Frenchman. He was born in the island of Corsica, a French possession, it is true, but the life and thought of whose people had little in common with the French. When the young man landed in France and entered a military school at the age of ten he was, to all intents and purposes, an immigrant. His intimate rise from that humble station to the dictatorship of France should be an inspiration to every immigrant to a foreign land. The presidency of the United States is limited by the Constitution to native-born Americans, but there is no other office of social station in the whole land that is not available to every new-comer to our shores. The immigrant is limited only by his own will, ability, and good behavior.

"At the age of 23 Napoleon was brought face to face with mob rule. He was in Paris on that fateful 20th of June, 1792, when the rabble invaded the Tuilleries and was a close observer of the events that followed, ending in the guillotining of the royal family and many of the French aristocracy. For ten years thereafter he was occupied with military duties, but when he was proclaimed Consul in 1802 the impressions that had been made upon his mind by the horrors of the Revolution found expression, and he devoted himself to setting up a government based on law and order. He established an education system, the Bank of France, the Legion of Honor, and the Napoleonic Code of laws which is the guide of French law today and has had a profound influence on justice throughout the world. 'It would be very difficult to disprove the statement,' declares one writer, 'that the superb inheritance of order, progress, and prosperity which Napoleon bequeathed made the France of 1914.'

"In the knapsack of each of my privates is a marshal's baton," is a familiar quotation from the great Corsican. He meant that the opportunity was there, and it remained only for the individual to grasp and develop it to become a leader among men. Success and wealth are within the grasp of every individual among us today, be he native or immigrant, and so long as they are pursued in accordance with the law of the land no impediment will be placed in the way of highest attainment. 'If Napoleon could do it, I can do it,' is the proud boast of every Frenchman, and with him as their ideal they strive for success. Let every immigrant to our shores be animated by a similar resolve—to forge to the front by every lawful means that presents itself—and radicalism bred of idealism will disappear and contentment reign once more."

THE U. S. ROYAL CORD

A famous tire—and a famous tread. Acknowledged among motorists and dealers alike as the world's foremost example of Cord tire building. Always delivering the same repeated economy, tire after tire, and season after season.

The stripe around the sidewall is registered as a trade-mark in the U. S. Patent Office.

How you can measure tire value in 1921 —

OFTEN it's surprising the number of different tire views that come out in a chance talk at the curb or in the leisure of a friend's garage.

Almost every day you come across the man human enough to believe he can outguess the cut-price tag on "job-lots," "discontinued lines" and "surplus stocks."

His opposite is the hard-pan car owner who sticks year in and year out to a standard brand as the only rational economy.

Many will remember the scarcity of U. S. Tires last year.

A hardship at the time, but a benefit now. There are no U. S. Tires to be worked off—no accumulations—no forced selling of any U. S. brand—no shipping of tires from one part of the country to another to "find a market."

There are 92 U. S. Factory Branches. Each one gets its share of U. S. Tires. There is a broad, constant, even distribution of U. S. Tires always going on from these Branches to the dealer.

Buy a U. S. Tire anywhere—in a community of 500 people or even less—and you get a fresh, live tire of current production—with all the original service and mileage the factory put into it.

The owner of a medium or light-weight car stands on equal ground with every other car owner.

Any United States Tire is a universal full money's worth—backed up with a leadership policy of equal quality, buying convenience and price for everybody.

INVESTORS HELD LIABLE IN BUILDING ASSOCIATION

Ripley Building Association Stockholders Held to Be Stockholders as Well as Borrowers of Institution.

Ripley, Ohio, May 11. — The first opinion in a series of three test cases which have been heard in the Common pleas court growing out of the receivership of the People's Building & Loan Company at Ripley, reached Clerk of Court McBeth last Wednesday afternoon from Judge William Joseph, of Batavia. Judge Joseph was here last week presiding in an action brought by Receiver Chambers Baird against Nettie and Clarence Bootes, who had issued in Nettie Bootes' name two shares of the company's stock. They set forth that they had made payment upon these in the sum of $115.

Judge Joseph holds that while the defendant is entitled to a credit on her notes for the interest due and dividends up until the time of the appointment of the receiver, that she is not entitled to a credit on the notes for the amount claimed to have been paid by her on the shares for which she subscribed at the time she negotiated the loan. He holds that she is a stockholder as well as a borrower, and as such must pay her loan and then share in any amount left for distribution. There are many other cases of like nature and it is thought that this decision will govern them all.

WOMAN'S RIGHT ON JURY UPHELD IN KENTUCKY.

Frankfort, Ky., May 11. — The application of Adolph McLaughlin for a writ of habeas corpus, raising the question of the right of women to serve on a jury, was denied by Chief Justice Hurt, Tuesday. McLaughlin was sent to jail for one year for shooting and wounding by a jury of which a woman was a member. Justice Hurt said that if the Court of Appeals, which never had issued such a writ, had such a right it was only incidental to its supervisory powers as a court of review, and in this instance the application should be made to the Circuit Court. Justice Hurt is the second member of the Court of Appeals to deny the writ.

WHITEWASHING IS CHARGE BY JOHNSON BEFORE COMMITTEE

Kentucky Congressman Says Colonel Was Whitewashed in Herdroll Escape Investigation by Court-Martial.

Washington, May 11. — The charge that Colonel John E. Hunt, former commandant at the disciplinary barracks at Governor's Island, was "whitewashed" at a court martial resulting from his reputed failure to take proper precautions to prevent the escape of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, Philadelphia draft dodger, was made late Tuesday at the end of a long session of the House Investigating Committee.

Called before the committee to tell what precautions he had taken to safeguard Bergdoll while on a gold-hunting expedition to the Maryland mountains, Colonel Hunt had been on the stand for nearly five hours when he was taken in hand by Representative Johnson, Democrat, Kentucky, for cross-examination.

Some of the questions put to the witness were extremely blunt and of a personal nature. Then, after asking for a yes or no answer as to whether or not he had been given a fair trial and whether or not he had been prosecuted aggressively, Mr. Johnson proceeded to quote from the court-martial record certain statements by the prosecuting officer directed at the good standing of the accused.

"Is that a vigorous prosecuting speech?" Mr. Johnson asked, and Hunt instantly replied that it was a plea for his conviction as he saw it. At this juncture John H. Sherburne of Boston, counsel for the committee, interposed that it was only fair to read from the Judge Advocate's address, a course which the committee approved.

"It is my purpose to show, although I may not have the full co-operation of counsel for this committee," Mr. Johnson asserted, "that the court-martial record contains more than a suspicion that this witness was whitewashed and that counsel participated only in a half-hearted prosecution. And I think I will show more as I get further into it."

BIRDS TO MAKE MUSIC ON OLD FEDERAL HILL

State Proposes to Make "Federal Hill" a Bird Sanctuary When It Becomes the Property of Kentucky.

One of the interesting plans for Federal Hill, after it has been acquired by the state as a result of the campaign that began on Sunday, May 8, is to make one line in "My Old Kentucky Home" come true and remain true for all time. "The birds make music all the day," and so they will, for it is proposed to transform the 236 acres about the historic old mansion into a bird sanctuary, to which the whole tribe of feathered songsters will be invited and made to feel at home again. Probably they'll "bunt no more for the 'possum and the 'coon" but the mocking birds in another Foster class and all other singing birds can be "Happy as de day am long."

Nothing much has been said about this part of the plan, in fact practically nothing has been settled on as to the details of what will be done with Federal Hill after it has been purchased. All the emphasis just now is being placed on the campaign to raise the fund for its purchase and restoration, and every Kentuckian is called upon to help. J. Barbour Russell has been doing valiant work as head of the local committee and is most hopeful of the local campaign which opened on Sunday, May 8, recording a splendid success.

SHOES GOING DOWN.

The high cost of footwear is bound to fall sharply, if figures given out today by the Quartermaster Corps are any indication of readjustment in prices.

When bids for 500,000 pairs of shoes for the army were opened in April, 1920, the average price was found to be $6.73 a pair. Today, with bids calling for 250,000 pairs, the contracts have just been awarded at an average price of $3.43 per pair, a cut of practically fifty per cent. within twelve months.

Such prices will save the taxpayers millions of dollars in shoes for the troops.
